We have often wondered if dragons breath fire, acid, and other nasties what do they fart. Is their back draft lethal, is their trouser cough deafening, perhaps their flucuations smell of wet wool, we think it's time some brave scientist investigated.

The Dangers of Fighting on when injured

If your wounded, lost a leg or two, head or an arm then continuing to fight is not recommended. The Upholsters guild really do not endorse this, losing a leg can result in badly damaging your knee while hopping around. Even worse head loss can leave you blind and disoriented, you may walk into a wall or thorny bush and get pricked. If this is problem to you, then come and say ahoy and buy Commodore Insurance for all the legless harmless headless wealthy idiots everywhere.

Wandering News.

The Wondafalls recently visited Jakes Cavern overlooking the Bay of Peel, during thar stay they drank strawberries, apples, grapes, honey, peaches, cherries, hops and water. Wunderbra Edicar spent the evening in the bar chatting with her 5 foot bottoms, while Jacque the zombie chatted with Dada Logover. Later Murpanda, D'Thor and Red Pimponal got chatty with the Lady from the local pond and felt a little less themselves while Saris was seen slapping his mistress after one too many mints.

The fellewing day Cordeelia was seen feeding the postman cake in return for delivery of love letters to her blood studs.

Marcuss spent the day with Monti throwing stones on the table and playing cards, both claimed it was a important game, but it seemed a little pointless to me.

Farrrik later joined Kordelea in negotiating with the refugees, by the end of the evening I think they had won a good deal on one hundred pork bellies and ounce of best dried dandelion weed.

New Vunderer Beam says his son is called Ray and his moos is made of cheese and brimston prickle.

A last mention goes to Dashing Avon for not losing his spear.
